NEW FEATURE · NOW LIVE

Team Calendars

Every meeting your team books in Google or Outlook now shows inside your Brokerr calendar.

Your team already lives in Google Calendar and Outlook. Now Brokerr shows it all in one place. Each person who connects their calendar adds their meetings to the shared Brokerr calendar, marked with their initials, right next to your interviews, calls and assessments. See who is out on a viewing, who is free this afternoon and what the week ahead looks like for the whole office, without switching tabs or asking around.

Tap any meeting for the details

01 The whole team in one view
Meetings from every connected teammate appear on the Brokerr calendar, each tagged with initials so you know at a glance whose day it is.

02 Google and Outlook together
Some of your team on Google, some on Outlook? No problem. Both show side by side and stay up to date automatically.

03 Private stays private
Events marked private in Google or Outlook show only as Busy to everyone else. Your teammates see that you are booked, never the details.

04 Connect in one click
Sign in to Brokerr with Google or Microsoft and your calendar connects automatically. Already signed in another way? Connect it from Integrations.
